STILL RETREATING

Russian Armies Still Fleeing From Liao Yang

ATTACK ON PORT ARTHUR

Is Expected to Have Taken Place To-day

RETREATING RUSSIANS NEAR MUKDEN.

Mukden, Sept. 6th.—The Commissionariat department and columns of artillery are arriving here and proceeding northward. General Kuropatkin is engaged in an extensive rear guard action.

Yantai, Sept. 5th.—delayed.—There was heavy fighting northeast of this place to-day. The Japanese troops are now pressing northward along the ridges east of the railway and several skirmishes have already taken place within 20 miles to the northwest of Mukden.

Tokio, Sept. 6th.—It is reported here that the Russians have retired beyond Yantai.

General Kuroki has occupied the town.

ALEXIEFF AT HARBIN.

Harbin, Sept. 6th.—Viceroy Alexieff and his staff have arrived here from Vladivostok.

REPORTS OF PORT ARTHUR'S DOWNFALL.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 6th.—The Novoe Vremya this morning got out an early edition announcing the fall of Port Arthur, but it was recalled before the paper reached the street. Such a report is current but it seems to have no basis in fact.

OPERATIONS AROUND LIAO YANG.

Liao Yang, Sept. 6th.—The Russians retreated from their main positions which formed a circle around the city while the transports crossed the river at 2 o'clock. The Japanese succeeded in placing two guns in position and shelled the railroad station resulting in many casualties. At the same time the Japanese infantry attacked the inner Russian position but were repulsed. In the evening the Japanese brought up heavy guns and used Shimose powder to shell the Russian town. The Russians held the position till the night of September 3rd, when they retired across the river on September 2nd. A strong Russian force was moved eastward to Yantai to hold Kuroki back. Kuroki attacked it and was repulsed, being driven from his position on the left. The Japanese poured in a terrific shrapnel fire. One shot annihilated two Russian companies. In the evening the Russian artillery which had been reinforced shelled the Japanese position and Kuroki pushed his attack.

OPERATIONS AROUND LIAO YANG.

Winnipeg, Sept. 7th.—The dearth of immediate press and official despatches from the present active seat of the far Eastern struggle continues. It is admitted by the Russian War Office that no telegraphs whatever (was received from Gen. Kuropatkin bearing Tuesday's date, the last to the Emperor from the General being dated Sept. 5th, and briefly telling that the army was advancing northward and that it had extricated itself from a dangerous position. That there was instant cannonading of the rear guard and that their losses on that day were about 100. The situation in the light of the latest information may be summed up as follows: The Russian forces are pushing on to Mukden, greatly impeded by heavy roads and floods, conducting an orderly retreat and followed step by step by the Japanese. The details of the fighting and of the exact position of the opposing are lacking. The report that Kuropatkin's rear guard had been annihilated and that the Russian forces are in danger of being surrounded is denied by the Russian General staff.

The Russian War Office is entirely confident that the retreat is slow, but surely being effected. From Tokyo comes the official report that the bulk of the Russian forces is still at Yen Tai. The Japanese Field Marshal in an extended report of the fighting on Sept. 4th says that the Japanese burned all the railroad bridges over the Taikse river and predicts that while the Japanese list of casualties is not yet complete the losses will grow heavy. Vice-Roy Alexieff is on his way from Harbin to Mukden.

The heads of Kuropatkin's long commissary train has passed through Mukden and are continuing northward.

ATTACK ON PORT ARTHUR EXPECTED.

The attack on Port Arthur continues and Chinese arriving at Chao say that the Russian garrison expected a general land and sea attack to-day, Wednesday.

COUNCIL MEETING

HELD LAST NIGHT

Contracts let for the Erection of Coal Bunkers at the Power House. Little Business Transacted

The regular meeting of the Edmonton city council was held in the usual place last night. Mayor Shurt and Coun. Fraser, Criswell, Ross, Cushing and Picard were present. The minutes of the last regular meeting were read and confirmed.

W. H. Clark's offer for the old boiler and engine of the electric light plant was discussed. It was decided to refuse Mr. Clark's offer as it was deemed advisable not to break up the electrical plant until it can be ascertained whether a sale of the complete plant can be effected.

The contract for constructing the new coal shed at the power house was given to Mr. Chapman, as was also the contract for the foundation work of the new machines in the power house.

Beck, Elmer & Newell wrote regarding the blocking of the street by the construction of the new Hudson's Bay store. Discussion revealed a like state of affairs to exist at McDougall & Scott's corner. It was decided to notify the owners of the buildings and the contractors that not more than one-third of the street be occupied in this way, and then only when surrounded by a high board fence with a sidewalk outside. The necessary steps will be taken to enforce these provisions.

Inspector Skiffland wrote saying that he would be willing unless counter orders were received to send two mounted police to aid the city police during the reception of the Governor-General's visit.

A destitute woman was ordered to be given a ticket if she did not to exceed twenty-five dollars to take her to Portland. She had endeavored to obtain work but had failed.

Reports:

The medical health officer reported that the condition of the General Hospital sewer was as unsatisfactory as formerly, and that attempts to alleviate this nuisance had failed. It was decided to instruct the medical health officer to see that the agreement entered into by the hospital be rigidly enforced—that is to have the pool emptied each night.

City engineer McLean reported on the progress estimate in connection with the construction of the municipal offices.

Engineer McNaughton's report on the piping and engine connections for the new power house machinery was discussed. The matter of awarding the contract for this work was left with the Fire, Water and Light committee with power to act.

Bylaw:

Bylaw 282, amending bylaw 243, pertaining to the regulation and management of the Edmonton water, rates was given its first reading.

BINDER TWINE

J. L. Haycock, inspector of binder twine, for the Dominion Government arrived on Friday's train. On the way he had stopped at Calgary, Red Deer, Lacombe, Wetaskiwin, and Strathcona, inspecting stocks of twine. He spent Saturday in Edmonton inspecting dealers' stocks here. He found the twine of full length and quality as represented. All dealers say that the quality of twine supplied them by the factories is better than last year and all are pleased with the inspector. Mr. Haycock did not visit Edmonton last season, but as a result of his work in other sections United States dealers selling twine at C. & E. points sent up their own inspectors last winter and in cases in which the twine was found to be short marked the correct length on it. During his inspection of last year Mr. Haycock found some twine 30 per cent. short. Estimating an average previous shortage of five per cent. on the $3,500,000 worth of twine used in Canada last year the saving to the farmers because of the inspection would amount to $175,000 a year. Mr. Haycock found one consignment of twine last year which was marked 600 feet to the pound. It actually measured 418 feet or 182 feet to the pound short. This was a shortage of 930 feet to the ball, 3 miles to the 100 pounds or 60 miles to the ton. Mr. Haycock is a practical farmer of Frontenac County, Ont., and sat two terms in the Ontario Legislature as a patron. He left for the south on Monday's train.

THE DOWLER GRADE

C. Gallagher has been actively circulating a petition during the past few days for the improvement of the double grade on the south side east of town. The 14th base line reaches the flat and bridge by this grade. It is therefore most important that it should be kept in first-class condition. Unfortunately it is difficult to keep in good condition, especially in wet seasons owing to the springy nature of part of the ground traversed. Some two or three years ago it was put in first class shape at considerable expense—but it won't stay put.

The present proposition is to alter the location of the lower half of the grade and reduce the slope by crossing the creek higher up and reaching the level of the flat at the site of the old brewery. Besides it is always in order to widen the roadway on the upper half of the hill. It is very necessary that the work should be done as soon as possible. In any case it should be completed before winter, or winter travel will be turned to other and less convenient routes.

An important feature of the case is that although the people of the Clover Bar local improvement district are the ones who must require the use of the hill, it is not within their jurisdiction. Being almost in the extreme north-west corner of the east Edmonton district, the people of that district are not vitally interested in it, and naturally do not feel like spending out of their taxes the amount of money needed to make the hill permanently safe and good.

Mr. Gallagher's petition is for the purpose of breaking the deadlock thus existing. In Clover Bar he circulated a petition to the North-West Government to have the hill improved which is being signed by everybody who has the opportunity. In town he circulated a petition and subscription list. The heading of the petition pledges the signers to give the sum of money which the subscriber promises on condition the North-West Government gives two dollars for every one dollar subscribed. As the local government has on several occasions acceded to a proposition of this nature under like circumstances it is more than likely that this one will go through, especially as the North-West Government grant is so much more liberal than ever before. So far the appeal for subscriptions have not met with a very generous response and the prospects of the great eastern gateway to the town being put in good shape before winter are very bright.

FROM THE FAR NORTH

HOW THE HUSKIES LIVE

Member of Police Deputation to Herschell Island tells of the far North Country

Constable Galpin of the R.N.W.M.P., arrived in Edmonton last Saturday evening from Herschell Island in the far away Arctic ocean. He has had a remarkable trip. Leaving here in May one year ago with Superintendent Constantine he paddled from Athabasca Landing down the river to Fort McMurray, a distance of about two hundred and fifty miles. From McMurray they were taken in charge by the Hudson Bay Company and travelled by steamer to Fort McPherson at the mouth of the Peel river, the most northerly Hudson Bay post. From McPherson they travelled Herschell Island in the early winter by dogs. Constable Harry Walker was one of the party on this, the last stage of the trip.

The mission that the party went on is well known to investigate the reports that had gained considerable circulation in Canada to the effect that the American traders were selling intoxicants to the native Esquimaux or Huskies as they are locally called and that they were debauching the natives. The police found these reports to be incorrect.

Constable Galpin is especially enthusiastic regarding the Huskies. He found them an industrious and intelligent class.

The Huskies hunt the whole year round capturing summer and winter fur. They do the large part of their trading with the American whalers from whom they get guns and ammunition and tobacco. They take no trinkets and disdain the paltry ornaments that the Indian admires. Nearly all their trading with the companies that operate throughout the northern district is done felt for felt. There are no wolverine skins on the Arctic coast and the Husky feels that there is a certain element of his manhood missing if he is not well equipped with first class wolverine skins. He wears no store clothes as all northern Indians now do. The trade carried on with the American whalers is profitable to the Husky. He gets a good price for his furs as the whalers bring the goods into the Arctic from San Francisco by water. This is very different to the conditions in which the Hudson Bay Company and themselves. As an instance, the whalers after paying the duty imposed by Canada can sell flour at Herschell Island for $1.75 per hundredweight while it costs the Hudson Bay company twenty-three dollars to freight this amount from Edmonton. The whalers come in July equipped for trading and carry on a large business with the Huskies. No beaver or wolverine are taken on the northern coast but white foxes, bear, and lynx abound. The natives secure steel from the traders and are expert mechanics in their own way. They make splendid jack knives and tobacco knives out of rough pieces of steel and this in the most primitive of methods. In this they show unlimited patience.

The Huskies are perfectly free from the savage traits that were so characteristic of the Indians. They are very sociable and wish to live on the best of terms with the traders. They surpass the Indian in one of his peculiarities, that is the holding in reverence medicine men who with violent incantations attempt to drive away disease. They are very superstitious. When the Husky wishes to marry he picks out a woman from among his people, and the only marriage ceremony that exists is in the parties promising to live together. There was no such a thing as the least ceremony in connection with the Husky taking unto himself a wife. This strange people are partially educated and civilized from their trading with the whalers. The men are fine and large of stature, but the women are between the two sexes is what first strikes the stranger as so peculiar.

While on the north coast Constable Galpin met four tribes of Esquimaux or Huskies. The Kugmukks have their headquarters at Herschell Island; the Neumataks around the mouth of the Coppermine; the Point Barrow in the district surrounding Barrow point, from which they get their name; and the Muzupers on the Siberian coast. The Husky is an adept at the art of tattooing. Each tribe have their own peculiar tattoo with which he is branded on the chin or cheek or forehead as the case may be. They also, as is better known, have their lips pierced and fish bones inserted in them. Of the four tribes mentioned the Neumataks are the least educated, being scarcely able to understand a word of English, while the other tribes have a smattering knowledge of it.

They are abundantly supplied with guns and ammunition by the northern whalers and they hunt and capture a great number of splendid moose, deer, mountain goat, and caribou on the spur of the Rockies that runs parallel with the Asiatic coast line. In this way the whalers have a good supply of fresh meat and there is no danger of scarcity. One peculiarity of the Husky is that although he has adopted the guns and ammunition of the white man he still clings to the ancient flint instead of using matches which the traders would be willing to supply them with.

The natives live during the winter in snow houses and in summer camp right on the bare beach in the tents supplied them by the whalers. The fact that they can secure a much more preferable sleeping site back a few rods means nothing to them. They insist on pitching their tents at night on the water's edge.

Life in the far north is rather monotonous. The winter is of nine months duration and the summer of three. During six weeks of this three months the sun never goes down, it shines continuously from May 30th to July 12th. Icebergs can be seen at the coast all the year round. During the winter very bad blizzards occur without the slightest warning to their approach. In the summer also the weather is very unreliable. Great wind storms come up. Constable Galpin was once caught out from the settlement when a winter blizzard came up and he and his companions were compelled to get into a cave in a snow bank to seek safety from the driving snow. Here they were kept prisoners by the storm for over two days. A little drift wood is the only wood procurable on the Arctic coast.

The American whalers were found to be a fine class of men. They came into the Arctic through the Behring straits, from San Francisco, and they get their stock fully equipped for trading with the Huskies as well as capturing whales. The capture of a whale means a great deal of money to the whalers as the men are paid according to the whales captured, each whaler receiving two one-hundredths of a cent a unit of value—while the captain and officers receive a larger proportion. They take whale boats north with them and made them to the Huskies for the value of about one hundred dollars.

There are truly a very few natural harbours on the northern coast, that of Herschell Island being the best. Another good one is at the mouth of the Copper river. It is thought probable that the American whalers will move their headquarters from Herschell to some other—but still Canadian—Island.

Constable Galpin has a very interesting collection of Husky curios.

On his outward journey he left Herschell Island in February and came with dogs to Ft. McPherson. On July 14th he took the Hudson's Bay steamer "Wrigley" to Fort Smith. From Fort Smith to Fort McMurray he came by the Hudson's Bay steamer Graham and thence to Athabasca Landing and on to Edmonton.

Constable Walker came last as far as Ft. Good Hope with Constable Galpin but intended to soon return. Sergeant Fitzgerald and six men are now stationed at Herschell Island.

He left this morning for Regina to make a report to the Commissioner.

STOW-AWAY DIES SUD-DENLY.

Just before J. G. Oliver's raft reached Paradis Crossing on their trip to Battleford a stowaway was discovered on board one of them. He turned out to be John Butler from Dubois, Penn. He said he was locking up a homestead. He had laid on the raft in the rain for some time unnoticed but at Paradis Crossing was put ashore and placed in one of the raftsmen's tents. He died half an hour afterward from heart failure. He had old one of the crew that this was his trouble.

Deceased had left his things at a hotel in Strathcona with instructions that if he did not come back they were to be sent to Dubois, Penn. He had said to some of the crew that he had a rented farm in Pennsylvania and had money in the bank. Deceased had three sons and one daughter. The daughter is teaching school at her home.

Only a few land office papers, a memo book, a jack knife and pair of cheap blankets and not a cent of money or a change of clothes were found in his possession.

WEBSTER'S WOOLEN MILLS.

A woolen mill at Edmonton seemed very much like a flight of fancy when it was first spoken of a few years ago but to-day it is an accomplished fact, and blankets, both white and grey, flannels, tweeds, etc., and other woollen goods are being turned out in large quantities of a quality and finish that leave nothing to be desired and this is not merely an ornamental or artistic industry. Although only on a small scale it is not in any sense experimental or of doubtful success or utility.

People both in the west and east are apt to look upon manufacturing in all its branches as an exclusively eastern industry. While the east certainly has many advantages in many lines there are lines in which up to the point of supplying the local demand the west has a distinct advantage. Among these are wood working for house building, brick making, flour and meal milling, etc., and Mr. Webster has demonstrated that in the manufacture of woollen goods such as are in most demand here and are produced from the wool of mutton sheep, the advantages of the west more than balance its disadvantages. Taking blankets as an example, the wool is produced here and large numbers of blankets are used here. It is said that 16,000 pairs were sold in Edmonton last year. If the wool grown here is made into blankets in the east it pays three cents a pound freight going east and the blankets into which it is made pay an equal amount coming west. This makes a total of six cents a pound on the wool and the blankets in favor of working up home grown wool into home used blankets.

The flour mill can afford to and does pay the farmer a little more than the export price of his wheat and sell him flour at a little less than imported flour can be bought for, and still makes a profit out of the saving in freight.

The case is the same with the woolen mill. The mill can pay the farmer a little more for his wool than he could get for it if it had to be sold for export. It can sell him blankets and heavy woollen goods of undoubted quality at less money than he would have to pay for the imported article and still make a sufficient profit to stay in business. The extra cost of manufacturing at Edmonton is not so very much greater than in the east. Staple articles of food such as flour, oatmeal, meat, vegetables, butter and eggs average cheaper here than there. Fuel is cheaper and clothing almost as cheap, groceries are a little higher but not very much.

Cash is paid for wool or is taken in trade for cloth. Up to date this year the mill has taken thirteen and one-half tons of wool, all of local production, but the supply is about exhausted and some will have to be imported from the southern ranges to keep the mill going. The present price is 13c for washed wool and 7 to 8c for unwashed. The mill is run by steam power and the machinery includes 2 carders, 1 finisher, 2 spinners, 1 washer, 1 fuller, 1 perfover, 2 blanket looms and one narrow loom. Thirteen hands are employed and the output of the mill is sold to farmers in exchange for wool and wholesale to merchants in Edmonton, Strathcona and all the way down the line to Calgary.

In connection with the woolen mill is a wood working shop in which school desks, butter tubs and cheap lines of furniture are made. The school desks are made of B. C. fir, which finishes very handsomely, and the castings are supplied by the Edmonton Iron Works and the butter tubs are made of native spruce.

Speaking of manufacturing in the west Mr. Webster said there are three conditions of generally useful success: there must be a local supply of the raw material, there must be a local demand for the finished product and the process of manufacture must be businesslike and economical. Under these conditions there is no reason why manufactures of many kinds might not be carried on successfully in the west if the necessary capital and enterprise were forthcoming.

BOARD OF TRADE.

A GENERAL MEETING of the Board will be held on Friday the 9th inst at 11 a.m. in the Town Hall. Important matters are to be discussed. Every member is requested to be present.

MADE BY HAND

I HAVE each Pharaoh cigar rolled by hand! I do this in order that the leaves that go into the filler may be properly placed, with the top towards the burning end of the cigar.

It also enables the packing of the filler to be properly done—you will find my Pharaoh will smoke easily and evenly from end to end!

I see that the materials are of the highest grade as well.

Cuban tobacco I myself select from the Manicouaguan district, in the Province of Santa Clara, is the filler—the most expensive Connecticut Broadleaf is the binder, and a clear, beautiful Sumatra I import from Holland is the wrapper.

My Pharaoh makes a mighty good smoke for the money.

The Canadian Northwest
Homestead Regulations

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories, excepting 8 and 16, which has not been homesteaded, or reserved to provide wood lots for settlers, or for other purposes, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age to the extent of one quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

ENTRY.—Entry may be made per-the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or, if the homesteader desires, he may, on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situated, receive authority for some one to make entry for him. A fee of $10.00 is charged for a homestead entry.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required by the provisions of the Dominion Lands Act and the amendments thereto, to perform the conditions connected therewith, under one of the following upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three plans:

(1) At least six months' residence
years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry
under the provisions of this Act, reside upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act, and has obtained
entry for a second homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by residence upon the
first homestead, if the second homestead is in the vicinity of the first
homestead.

(3) If a settler has obtained a patent for his homestead, or a certificate for the issue of such patent, countersigned in the manner prescribed by this Act, and has obtained
entry for a second homestead, the
requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may
be satisfied by residence upon the
first homestead, if the second homestead is in the vicinity of the first
homestead.

(4) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon said land.

The term "vicinity" used above is meant to indicate the same township or an adjoining or cornering township.

A settler who avails himself of the provisions of Clauses 2, 3, or 4, must or substitute 20 head of stock, with cultivate 30 acres of his homestead,
buildings for their accommodation,
and have besides 30 acres substantially fenced.

Every homesteader who fails to comply with the requirements of the homestead law is liable to have his entry cancelled, and the land may be again thrown open for entry.

Application for patent should be made at the end of three years, before the local agent, sub-agent, or Homestead Inspector. Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands, at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

Information.—Newly arrived immigrants will receive at the Immigration Office, in Winnipeg, or at any Dominion Lands Office, in Manitoba
or the Northwest Territories, information as to the lands that are open for entry, and from the officers in charge, free of expense, advice and assistance in securing land to suit them.
Full information respecting the land,
timber, coal and mineral laws, as well as respecting Dominion Lands in the Railway Belt in British Columbia, may be obtained upon application to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg,
Manitoba, or to any of the Dominion Lands Agents in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories.

JAMES A. SMART,

Deputy Minister of the Interior.
N.B.—In addition to Free Grant Lands to which the regulations above stated refer, thousands of acres of most desirable lands are available for lease or purchase from railroad and other corporations and private firms
in Western Canada.
